National TCF Office (Oakbrook, IL) Toll Free 1-877-969-0010 The Atlanta Chapter of The Compassionate Friends meets the second Tuesday of each month from 7:30 – 9:30 p.m. at the:

First Christian Church of Atlanta 4532 LaVista Road, Tucker, GA 30084

Upcoming Chapter Meetings: January 12, February 9 and March 9

The Atlanta Chapter also offers a Sibling Group at the same time as our regular monthly meeting.

The Compassionate Friends, Inc. is a mutual assistance, self-help organization offering friendship, understanding, and hope to bereaved families. Anyone who has experienced the death of a child of any age, from any cause is welcome. Our meetings give parents an opportunity to talk about their child and about their feelings as they go through the grieving process. There is no religious affiliation. There are no membership dues. The purpose of this support group is not to focus on the cause of death or the age of the child, as it is to focus on being a bereaved parent, along with the feelings and issues that evolve around the death experience of a child.

To Our New Members

Coming to the first meeting is the hardest, but you have nothing to lose and everything to gain! Try not to judge your first meeting as to whether or not The Compassionate Friends will work for you. At the next meeting you may find just the right person or just the right words said that will help you in your grief work.

To Our Members Who are Further Down the 'Grief Road'

We need your encouragement and your support. Each meeting we have new parents. THINK BACK – what would it have been like for you at your first meeting if there had not been any TCF "veterans" to welcome you, share your grief, encourage you and tell you, "your pain will not always be this bad, it really does get better!"

YOU NEED NOT WALK ALONE. WE ARE THE COMPASSIONATE FRIENDS

Atlanta Walks For Our Children and Siblings Gone Too Soon

The Compassionate Friends National Walk to Remember will be held at 8 a.m. Sunday morning, July 4, in Arlington, Va., the National Conference host city, prior to the closing ceremony.

First held in conjunction with the national conference in 2000, this Remembrance Walk has quickly become a highlight for conference-goers with more than 1,000 people joining together hand-in-hand, arm-in-arm to cover the two-mile course arranged for the event.

This is our way to honor the memories of children and siblings who we will never forget.

Families who have had a child die are invited to include their child's name on our "Atlanta Walks" banner carried by members of our local Atlanta TCF Chapter attending the 2010 conference.

If you would like to have your child, sibling or grandchild's name included, please complete the following form and return it to us as soon as possible. The deadline is June 15.

7CF National Conference to be Held in Arlington, Va.

"Reflections of Love, Visions of Hope" is the theme of The Compassionate Friends 33rd National Conference, to be held in Arlington, Va., July 2-4, 2010.

The event will be held at the Hyatt Regency Crystal City promising a beautiful venue for the 33rd TCF National Conference.

Independence Day will not only feature the annual Walk to Remember, but will include a world-class display of fireworks over the National Mall, visible from Arlington.

Please be thinking now about whether you will be able to attend. And, watch the national TCF Web site for details to be posted soon about making hotel reservations. The hotel always fills up quickly. To ensure a reservation at the hotel, reservations need to be made as soon as possible.

Our chapter also would like to identify those chapter members who plan to attend and can help carry our chapter's banner in the Walk to Remember. See the flyer on the previous page about adding your child or sibling's name to the banner.

If you plan to attend the conference, please contact Cindy Durham to let us know of your plans – cindy_durham@bellsouth.net.

Here's the national TCF Web site to watch for upcoming information about the conference and hotel arrangements: http://www.compassionatefriends.org

The Spirit of Our Children

Carol Hawley of our chapter writes that she and her husband recently returned from a long trip with their son Alan, his cousins and uncle. Carol is our chapter member who sends all of us those wonderful birthday and angel date cards. She and her husband now live in Indonesia.

Our trip to Kalimantan over the Christmas holidays was delayed by more than six hours. We landed in Pangkalan Bun in the evening. We drove to the port of Kumai as dusk was approaching. All of us boarded the boat and headed up the Sekonyer River.

That was when we saw first-hand the phenomenon of the fireflies that some tourists have written about. The captain turned off the lights of the boat and, presto, there it was:

thousands upon thousands of flickering lights among the nipa palms on both sides of the river banks.

It was pitch dark and we were rewarded with the display of "Christmas lights." There also was a symphony of various sounds of frogs, crickets and cicadas and the slow putt-putt of the boat's motors. It was mesmerizing.

For that moment in time, it felt like a part of heaven above drifted down and settled among the palms. It carried with it the thousands of spirits/stars of our children to greet us. It was emotional and yet serene at the same time. Even though Billy is no longer with us physically, I know he saw, heard and experienced the entire happening through our eyes – mine, his Dad's, brother Alan, his cousins Josh and Dana, Uncle Tom and, lastly a fun guy named Jonathon from Australia whom he never met.

And so things do happen for a reason. If our flight was on time we would have never seen this phenomenon. I shall carry this wonderful feeling of seeing the fireflies for the rest of my life.

Sending hugs and love to all.

2009 Candlelight Sewice Jessica Handler: Remember Your Siblings for Who They Were

Jessica Handler, author of the book "Invisible Sisters," was the sibling speaker at last month's Candlelight Service. She shared the text of her remarks with us and – for the benefit of siblings who were not able to be with us that evening – we are reprinting her remarks here, edited slightly for space.

I am the oldest of three sisters, and by the time I was 32, was the only one living. My sister Susie died of leukemia when she was eight, and I was 10. Our younger sister Sarah was four when Susie died.

Sarah was born with a blood disorder called Kostmann's syndrome, so rare that it's only found in about 1 in every 2 million people. She wasn't expected to live through elementary school. She died at 27.

Our father was a Civil Rights attorney in Atlanta in the 1960s, and one of the questions we faced as a family was "how do you save others when you cannot save your own?" Invisible Sisters is about growing up and learning to be, as my sister Sarah predicted, "the only one left." The book celebrates my sisters and our family, and the girl I was then, and the voice that I found for myself.

"Do you have any brothers or sisters?" is such a common question, but for most of my life, I didn't know how to answer that. Being truthful was often too difficult, because it led to more questions - how did they die, how did you handle it – and my honest answers might be more than the person bargained for. They presumed they were asking a simple question!

But I couldn't deny my sisters. I have two sisters, I've learned to say, but they are deceased.

I was asked to share my thoughts with you about how to cope with those first few moments, days, years of loss, and I'll be honest. I have no simple answers. We all grieve differently. What I will do, though, is give you some of the markers from my own road map, and I encourage you to use what works for you.

When I was 10 years old, on the morning that my sister Susie died, my father told me that death is hardest on those left behind, and that what we can do in the face of loss is honor the people who have died in the way we live.

That was a big concept for a little kid. So I did what kids do - I kept living my life, and missing my sister, who was 18 months younger than me, with whom I had shared a bedroom, shared toys, and teased and played and fought. Sometimes on special occasions, our mother had dressed us alike.

And after a while, I stopped being able to hear her voice. We had twin beds, side by side. Her bed, moved against the wall, became a couch. Susie's college fund bought books for our elementary school library. The end-of-year photographer called me "Susie-Q," to get me to smile, and I burst into tears. Poor guy, he didn't know what was wrong with me.

My little sister Sarah was four when Susie died. As Sarah and I grew up, we never spoke about Susie – the things she liked to do, what we were like as three sisters. In the late 1960s, at least in our family, talking about death wasn't openly done. This was before family therapy was common, and our parents believed that the right thing was to move on, and keep living. And so we did.

But I told you that I am the only surviving sister. Sarah died 23 years after Susie, after a lifetime of living with a chronic and fatal illness. Sarah and I were close closer than Susie and I had a chance to be. Sarah and I were also both young adults at the end of her life, which meant that we experienced more of life together: boys, dating, drivers' licenses, high school and our parents' divorce.

My parents and I – and Sarah – knew that she would die young, but knowing that didn't make it easier when it came.

I wrote Invisible Sisters more than a decade after Sarah died. and almost 30 years after Susie died. I had made a lot of false starts – short stories, poems, journal entries, and I realized that this story had to be nonfiction - it had to be true. My goal was to do what we hadn't been able to in our family when my sisters were alive. I wanted to tell their true stories, and to remember.

Our siblings are our memory. Our bond with brothers and sisters is different from our relationships with parents, and even with best friends. When we lose a sibling, we lose a part of ourselves.

In writing Invisible Sisters, I tried to find parts of what I'd lost. I became a kind of homemade archeologist of "stuff" from our lives. I contacted hospitals in Atlanta, Boston and New York for my sisters' medical records, and read every page I got. I've kept journals my whole life – and I read the contents of a floor-to-ceiling bookcase. All the family mementoes that I never could throw out and toted from apartment to apartment: like a huge, ugly cabinet (that was Sarah's changing table when she was a baby) that became a linen cabinet for me, a clay figurine - more of a yellow lump, actually – that Susie made at camp, and Sarah's tshirts and sweaters that would never in a million years fit me, but stayed in a duffel bag on my closet floor. I went through all of it, handled and smelled and examined this stuff. For me, items like these were proof of what had become a lost civilization.

Yes, this was truly heartbreaking at times. And surprisingly, sometimes there were funny moments that gave me great joy. There's always that photograph that you pull out of a box and say aloud, before you realize no one's there with you, "you did not wear that, no way!" And then you laugh! So, one of the markers on that roadmap is "stuff." I promise you, keep some of the stuff!

There are some things I've kept that I still can't look at or listen to; an audio recording of Susie and me playing when we were both very little, an answering machine cassette with a message from Sarah. I'm not ready to discard these, and I'm not ready to listen to them, either. I'm on the fence, waiting to see where I land on this one.

I take back what I said before. There is one aspect of the right way to grieve that we can all take as a marker on our roadmap. It's memory. Remember your siblings for who they were, as real people; the good times and the less good times. There was that time when they did that thing... or you did that other thing. They'd remember the person you had a crush on in junior high, and you remember that weird recipe your brother or sister liked. That's another marker on the roadmap.

After a sibling dies, our own lives go on. We are changed. We have deep furrows in our hearts. There are things we can no longer do without sorrow, and there are things in which we are strengthened. My sisters and I were raised with the concept of Tikkun Olam - "repair of the world" in Hebrew. We could not repair our family, but at least for me, writing Invisible Sisters is how I began to repair my world - and myself.

My father was right. Remember yourself, too. That's part of the road to learning to live as who we are now.

Jessica has donated a copy of her book to our chapter. It can be borrow from our chapter library. Our chapter's sibling group meets in a separate room, but at the same time, as our parent group. Please join us.

Kyle: 'I Pray You are Warm and Smiling' ... Happy Birthday!

By Mary Ann Davis

My son Kyle was born on 1/27/83 at 1:27 p.m. I always felt that was special in its own way; and Kyle was my special little man.

He passed away Oct. 2, 2008, after a long illness. He was such a strong and fearless little man, who had endured so much, particularly during the last 10 months of his life.

So many people want to hold onto that last year. However, I do not – because of all the pain and the hurt. I have spent all of this last year trying to block out that pain Kyle suffered and to instead remember happy times. It has been so very difficult.

Here's how my first year was without him. I held all of his ornaments and his Christmas stocking. I will continue to hang his stocking every year. I lit my candles every night. Kyle loved all the holiday lights, brightly decorated boxes, and the heightened activity.

But everything has changed now. Mom and I went to my brother's home in Big Canoe and spent Christmas with the rest of the family. It is a new tradition. But, someone is always going to be missing.

I yearn to hug him, to see his smile, to cuddle with him. I miss those big, brown eyes. As a caregiver for 25 plus years, I even wonder if he is warm and taken care of in Heaven. A pastor told me: "He has his wings now; he is walking, running and doing everything he could not do on earth."

Kyle, I pray you are warm and smiling. Happy birthday, angel. Love, Mom

Vote for TCF – 2^{nd} Round

From the TCF National Office

Compassionate Friends members, friends and fans – please take a bow!!! Your votes worked!!!

Chase Community Giving has named The Compassionate Friends to receive a $25,000 award and now we're setting our goals on the $1 million top award in Round 2. We successfully made it through Round 1 as one of the 100 U.S. charities (out of 500,000 nonprofits eligible) to receive the most votes cast during a one-month period starting Nov. 15.

Round 2 runs Jan. 15-22 as the top 100 vote-getters in Round 1 will vie to be among the six highest vote-getters. The charity receiving the most votes will receive $1 million while the five runners-up will each receive $100,000.

"Working together, we have a great chance at receiving the top $1 million award," says TCF Executive Director Patricia Loder. "We need everyone to be committed to this goal because, with donations down, an award of this type will not only help us maintain our programs, but will allow us to expand them so we can help more people!"

Journey of the Remembrance Cards

By Jayne Newton

All members of the Atlanta Chapter of TCF should receive a remembrance card on your child's birthday and angel date. Each card is individually handmade with love by Carol Hawley in memory of her son Billy Hawley.

Carol and Bill Hawley lost their son Billy in September 2004. They began attending the Atlanta/Tucker Chapter several months later. In 2006 Carol volunteered to individually create a special card for each child's birthday and angel date in memory of Billy.

In 2007, Bill and Carol moved around the world to Jakarta Indonesia. She has continued to create the cards for our children. Once the cards are finished, Carol mails the blank cards back to Atlanta where I create the insert that goes inside, personalized with each child's name and date. They are mailed a few days before the child's special remembrance dates to our TCF families. Some of the cards travel around the world....some within the states and some to other countries.

Carol has always shared that Billy helps her create each and every card. She feels like he travels with each card to each grieving family. This is one way Carol keeps Billy alive in the hearts of so many who have never met him and gives Billy the opportunity to travel the globe.

In Memory of Billy Hawley www.tcfatlanta.org/heartsonastring/Memorials/BillyHawley (3/15/83 – 9/27/04)

We send between 40 and 60 cards per month to grieving families. We have been blessed to have the funds to continue this ministry from donations from our families. We want to thank the families who made donations in 2009 specifically designated to fund The Remembrance Card Ministry.

Gifts of Love

A love gift is a gift of money to The Compassionate Friends of Atlanta. It is usually in honor of a child who has died, but it can also be from individuals who want to honor a relative or friend who has died, a gift of thanksgiving that their own children are alive and well, or simply a gift from someone who wants to help in the work of our chapters.

The following donations are in support of the Atlanta Chapter newsletter, candlelight service, Web site and other outreach.

All chapters within TCF are totally dependent on funds from our families. We DO NOT receive funds from our National Office. Everything we need to operate our local chapters are paid directly from our local resources and our local family contributions. Thank you to all who contribute and support your local chapters. Some people contribute in memory of other's children.....this is a wonderful way for others to say "I am remembering your child." Other "Gifts of Love" are evident by all the compassionate and giving volunteers we have within our TCF Atlanta organization.

Love gifts to the Atlanta Chapter of TCF should be made payable to The Compassionate Friends and mailed to our treasurer: Jayne Newton, 808 Brentway Court, Lilburn, GA 30047.
